PART III—ARCHAEOLOGICAL AND AN- THROPOLOGICAL RESEARCH

§ 8. Archaeological Investigations.

(1) Archaeological sites form a limited and unrenewable resource. It is recognised that any archaeological investigation other than survey potentially results in an impairment of this resource. Therefore all archaeological research other than survey is prohibited, unless the property to be excavated

(a) is threatened with destruction or damage through natural or human forces; or

(b) is demonstrated to advance the knowledge of the archaeology of the Marshall Islands in such a manner that the results likely to be obtained will advance the management or interpretation of the other resources; and

(c) is demonstrated to be more appropriate for the study proposed than are any known available properties that are threatened with destruction or damage.

(2) Permits for archaeological excavation, may be issued only if the following minimum standards are met:

(a) the excavation shall be supervised by an archaeologist who is qualified in accordance with section 4 of these regulations;

(b) the excavation shall be undertaken in a manner consistent with the Standards of Research Performance of the Society of Professional Archaeologists;

(c) the permission of the person owning or controlling the land involved, and any required land use or environmental permits, have been obtained, or have been applied for and are pending issuance of the permit;

(d) the applicant's excavation plan is sensitive to any non-archaeological cultural or historic values the property may possess;

(e) analysis and curation of specimens shall occur at an institution or other entity meeting the Institutional Standards of the Society of Professional Archaeologists, unless the excavation is of such limited scope that a full range of curation facilities is not required;

(f) the excavation is designed to address significant research topics in the natural or social sciences or the humanities, or to provide data that will advance the purposes of the Marshall Islands Cultural and Historic Preservation Plan or a local cultural and historic preservation plan;

(g) an appropriate schedule is provided for the submission of a final report and copies of primary field data;

- (h) the property to be excavated fulfils the criteria set out in subsection (1) of this section;
  - (i) the applicant agrees to the requirements set out in § 10 of these regulations.
- (3) The treatment of recovered artifacts and specimens shall be governed by the Regulations Governing The Taking And Export Of Artefacts 1991; and
- (4) The treatment of human remains shall be governed by the Regulations Governing The Disposition Of Archaeologically Recovered Human Remains 1991.

Permits for anthropological research may be issued only if the following minimum standards are met:

- (1) the research will be conducted by an anthropologist who has demonstrated pertinent experience conducting anthropological field research;
- (2) the applicant certifies that he will be guided by the Professional Ethics of the American Anthropological Association;
- (3) the permission of the person owning or controlling the land involved, and any required land use or environmental permits, have been obtained, or have been applied for and are pending issuance of the permit;
- (4) the applicant's research plan is sensitive to any archaeological, cultural or historic values the research topic may possess;
- (5) analysis and curation of specimens of traditional and modern material culture collected during the research shall occur at an institution or other entity meeting the Institutional Standards of the Society of Professional Archaeologists, unless the collection is of such limited scope that a full range of curation facilities is not required;

(6) the study is designed to address significant research topics in the natural or social sciences or the humanities, or to provide data that will advance the purposes of the Marshall Islands Cultural and Historic Preservation Plan or a local cultural and historic preservation plan;

(7) the applicant provides an appropriate schedule for the submission of a final report and copies of primary field data, and for the disposition of recovered specimens; and

(8) The applicant agrees to the requirements set out in § 10 of these regulations.

§ 10. Schedule Governing the Conduct of Anthropological and Archaeological Research.

(1) Any applicant for an archaeological research project shall meet and agree to the following requirements in addition to the requirements imposed under § 8 of these regulations:

(a) the principal investigator for archaeological research must conform with the standards set forth in Section 4(2) of these regulations;

(b) if part of the research is to be conducted by a person holding a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Sciences but not Master of Arts or Master of Science in the above fields, the presence of the principal investigator is required for at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the time;

(c) if part of the research is to be conducted by a person not holding at least a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Sciences in the above fields, the presence of the principal investigator is required for the entire period;

(d) if the field work to be undertaken is largely of an ethnographic or anthropological nature, the full-time presence of the principal investigator may be reduced to the discretion of the Council, provided that the principal investigator shall be present for seventy-five percent (75%) of any archaeology component in the project; and

(e) prior consent of the atoll community or communities studied or worked in has been obtained.

(2) Any applicant for an anthropological research project shall meet and agree to the following requirements in addition to the requirements imposed under § 9 of these regulations:

(a) the principal investigator for cultural anthropological research must conform with the standards set forth in Section 5(2) of these regulations;

(b) if part of the research is to be conducted by a person holding a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Sciences but not Master of Arts or Master of Science in the above fields, the presence of the principal investigator is required for at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the time;

(c) if part of the fieldwork includes archaeological research, subsection (1)(d) of this section applies; and

(d) prior consent of the atoll community or communities studied or worked in has been obtained.

(3) Any researcher applying for an archaeological or anthropological research permit under §§ 8 or 9 of these regulations shall furnish the following documents and undertakings:

(a) upon application, the applicant shall submit the following:

- (i) a detailed research proposal;
- (ii) documentation that the applicant is financially capable of undertaking the research;

(b) The applicant shall sign an undertaking that the applicant:

- (i) will report regularly to the HPO;
- (ii) will submit an interim report no later than four weeks after the end of the field work, and that the applicant is prepared, if so asked, to report orally to the Council. This oral report shall not be in lieu of a written interim report;
- (iii) will submit two copies of the final research report and of any other report and publication deriving from the research to the Council; and
- (iv) will hand over the originals of all field notes and plans to the HPO after completion of the research. If the notes are needed for a period exceeding one (1) year after the completion of field work, the applicant shall submit photostats; however, submission of the photostats shall not be in lieu of submission of the originals after the completion of the research. The applicant may impose a temporary ban on these photostats and originals, which is governed by §13 of these regulations.

(c) If the application is approved by the Council, the successful applicant shall pay a deposit of US $1,000, which shall be deposited into a separate savings account at a local bank, with the following specifications:

(i) the deposit and any accrued interest is to be returned once the applicant has submitted two copies of his research to the Council. This deposit does not constitute a research fee but is required to ensure that researcher will comply with the obligation to submit copies of their reports and theses; and

(ii) if the researcher has not submitted copies of the report, thesis or publication within a reasonable period of time after the publication has appeared or the thesis has been accepted, then the Republic shall be entitled to utilize the money to obtain copies of the research. The remaining money shall be returned to the applicant.

(4) Upon receipt of the two copies of the completed research, the Council shall make one copy immediately available to the National Archives. The other copy may be circulated among the members of the Council and shall finally reside in the office of the HPO.

(5) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2) of this section, citizens of the Republic of the Marshall Islands acting on behalf of the Historic Preservation Office, may on a case by case basis, as determined by the council, be permitted to conduct archaeological or anthropological research if only parts of the requirements set out in subsections (1) and (2) of this section are met .

(6) Citizens of the Republic of the Marshall Islands, or persons acting on behalf of the Historic Preservation Office, may on a case by case basis, as determined by the council, be permitted to conduct archaeological or anthropological research without providing a $1,000 bond as required under subsection (3)(c) of this section.
