CONCILIATION IN INDIVIDUAL DISPUTES

7.

Where a dispute other than a trade dispute as defined in section 1, between a worker and his employer arises from, or in connection with, the terms and conditions of a contract of employment or the manner of its performance, either party may request a labour officer to assist with a view to bringing about a settlement of the dispute by conciliation.

LABOUR OFFICER TO PROMOTE SETTLEMENT

Where a request referred to in section 3 is made to a labour officer, and the labour officer considers that he can act upon such request with a reasonable prospect of success, it shall be his duty without delay to endeavour to promote a settlement of the dispute without its being determined by a Court.

POWER OF LABOUR OFFICER IN A DISPUTE

- (1) For the purposes of the exercise of his functions under section 4 a labour officer may -
  - (a) require the parties to the dispute and any other person whom he has reason to believe can give information relevant to the matter in dispute, to appear before him at an appointed time and place;
  - (b) require any person to produce any documents or records touching upon the matter in dispute in the possession or under the control of such person.

(2) A person who -

- (a) fails to comply with any requirement of a labour officer under subsection (1); or
- (b) knowing gives to a labour officer an information false in any material particular;

shall be guilty of an offence.

MEMORANDUM OF CONCILIATION

A memorandum recording the terms of the conciliation or default thereof shall be drawn by the labour officer before whom the conciliation proceedings have taken place, and shall be signed by him and by the parties. The terms of such memorandum shall be binding on the parties to the dispute.

PART 3 - CONCILIATION AND ARBITRATION IN TRADE DISPUTES

COMMISSIONER TO OFFER ASSISTANCE TOWARDS SETTLEMENT

- (1) Where a trade dispute exists or is apprehended the Commissioner may, at the request of one or more parties to the dispute or otherwise, offer the parties to the dispute assistance with a view to bringing about a settlement of the dispute.
- (2) The Commissioner shall consider the likelihood of the dispute being settled otherwise than under the provisions of this Act and, where there exist appropriate agreed procedures for negotiation of the settlement of disputes, shall not take any action with a view to instituting conciliation or arbitration proceedings under this Act, unless those procedures have been used and have failed to result in a settlement or unless, in the opinion of the Commissioner there is a special reason which justifies conciliation or arbitration under this Act as an alternative to those procedures.

APPOINTMENT OF CONCILIATOR

If the Commissioner considers that there is a reasonable prospect of bringing about a settlement of a trade dispute by conciliation he may appoint a person to be a conciliator in the dispute.

DUTIES OF CONCILIATOR

- (1) It shall be the duty of the conciliator without delay to endeavour to promote a settlement of the dispute by conciliation and, for this purpose, he shall have the powers of a labour officer set out in section 5 and may require all or any of the parties to submit to him a report in writing -
  - (a) setting out the matters in issue between them, and
  - (b) stating the efforts if any, that have been made by any party or other person with a view to bringing about a settlement.
  - (2) Section 5(2) shall apply in relation to proceedings before a conciliator as it applies in relation to proceedings before a labour officer.

EFFECTS OF CONCILIATION

- 10. (1) If the conciliator succeeds in bringing about a settlement of a trade dispute, in full or in part, he shall prepare a memorandum setting out the terms and conditions of the settlement. The memorandum shall be signed by all the parties to the dispute and shall be endorsed by the conciliator, and thereupon the terms of the settlement shall have the effect of an award made by a board.
  - (2) If the conciliator fails to bring about a settlement of a trade dispute within 21 days of the date of his appointment, or such further period as the Commissioner may allow, he shall prepare and furnish to the Commissioner a full report on the subject matter of the dispute, the process of conciliation and such matters, if any, as may have been settled between the parties in the course or as a result thereof.

COMMISSIONER MAY RECOMMEND ARBITRATION

If the Commissioner considers that there is a reasonable prospect of bringing about a settlement of a dispute, in whole or in part, by arbitration, he may, subject to a written consent of all the parties to the dispute, recommend to the Minister that the dispute, or any outstanding part thereof, be referred to a board of arbitration.

MINISTER HAY SET UP BOARD OF ARBITRATION12.Upon the receipt of the Commissioner's recommendation under section 11the Minister may refer the dispute, or any outstanding part thereof,to a board of arbitration which shall consist of -

- (a) a sole arbitrator appointed by the Minister; or
- (b) a chairman and an equal number of members experienced in industrial relations as representatives of employers and representatives of workers respectively, all appointed by the Minister.

MINISTER MAY ORDER INDUSTRIAL ACTION TO BE DISCONTINUED OR DEFERRED 34. (1) Where it appears to the Hinister -

- (a) that in contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute, industrial action, consisting in a strike. or irregular industrial action short of a strike, or a lock-out, has begun or is likely to begin; and
- (b) that the condition stated in subsection (2) is fulfilled; and
- (c) that it would -
  - (i) be conducive to a settlement of the dispute by conciliation or arbitration under this Act; or
  - (ii) assist in the exercise of its functions by a Commission of inquiry set up in pursuance of section 30;

if the industrial action were discontinued or deferred;

the Hinister may, make an order directing that, during the period for which the order remains in force, no person or s member of a class of person specified in the order shall -

- (i) call, organise, procure or finance a strike, or any irregular industrial action, or threaten to do so;
- (ii) institute, carry on, organise, procure or finance a lockout or threaten to do so.
- (2) The condition referred to in subsection (1) is that the industrial action in question has caused or would cause an interruption in the supply of goods or in the provision of services of such a nature, or on such a scale, as to be likely -
  - (a) to be gravely injurious to the national economy, to imperil national security or to create a serious risk of public disorder; or
  - (b) to endanger the lives of a substantial number of persons, or expose a substantial number of persons to serious risk of disease or personal injury.
- (3) An order under this section shall specify -
  - (a) the industry, undertaking (or a part thereof), and the description of workers in respect of which the order is to have effect, or all or any of these metters;
  - (b) the persons or description of persons who are to be bound by the order;
  - (c) the date on which the order is to take effect and the period, not exceeding 60 days, for which the order, unless revoked earlier, shall remain in force.
- (4) Any person contravening or failing to comply with any of the directions contained in an order under this section shall be guilty of an offence; provided that no prosecution in respect of such offence shall be instituted except by, or at the instance of, or with the writter, consent of the Attorney General.
- (5) The immunity against liability in tort conferred on a registered trade union or any other person by, or in pursuance of, section 18 or 19 of the Trade Unions Act 1983 shall not apply with respect to any act which constitutes an effence under this section.

ACEFUL PICKETING

- (1) It shall be lawful for a person acting in contemplation or furtherance of a trade dispute to attend -
  - (a) at or near his own place of work; or
  - (b) if he is an official of a registered trade union, at or near the place of work of a member of that union whom he is accompanying.

for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or peacefully pursuading any person to work or abstain from working.

- (2) If a person works or normally works -
  - (a)at more than one place; or
  - at a place the location of which is such that attendance there (b) for a purpose mentioned in subsection (1) is impracticable;

his place of work, for the purpose of that subsection, shall be any premises of his employer from which he works or from which his work is administered.  $r = \frac{1}{2} X_{1}$

- (3) In the case of a worker who is not currently in employment and whose last employment was terminated in connection with a trade dispute, the reference to his place of work in subsection (1) shall be taken as a reference to his last place of work. HORA CLAND SIL CONTRACTORS
- Notwithstanding anything in section 18 or 19, of the Trade Unions Act, (4) 1983 the immunity conferred by those sections shall not prevent any act done in the course of picketing from being actionable in tort unless such act is done in the course of attendance declared lawful by subsection (1) above.
- Nothing in this section shall be taken to confer on any person the right to enter upon private property against the will of the owner. (5)

SECONDARY ACTION

- The immunity conferred by sections 18 and 19 of the Trade Unions Act 36. (1) 1983 shall not apply where a person induces a breach of contract, other than a contract of employment, by means of secondary action which does not satisfy the conditions set out in subsection (3).
  - (2) For the purpose of this section there is secondary action in relation to a trade dispute when, and only when, a person
    - induces another to break a contract of employment or interferes (a) or induces another to interfere with its performance; or
    - (b) threatens that a contract of employment will be broken or interfered with or that he will induce another to do so,

if the employer under the contract of employment is not a party to the trade dispute. , 157

- (3)
- The conditions referred to in subsection (1) are
  - that the purpose or principal purpose of the secondary action is (a) directly to prevent or disrupt the supply during a trade dispute of goods or services between an employer who is a party to the dispute and an employer whose workers are taking the action, and the action is likely to achieve that purpose; or
  - (b) where the secondary action involves workers of associated employers of the employer in dispute or workers of their customers, that the purpose or principal purpose of the secondary action is directly to prevent or disrupt the supply during the dispute of goods or services from the associated employer to the customer, which but for the dispute would have been supplied by the employer in dispute, and the action is likely to achieve that purpose; or
